CULTURE AND HERITAGE

Bring history back to life

The world is made up of many different cultures each with their own stories to be told. The stories of time gone by rely on people with a specialist skill set to help preserve them for generations to come.

Travel the world to help uncover these stories, preserve heritage sites, or help a museum to showcase their latest exhibition.

Learn the technical skills needed to manage, conserve and share heritage effectively and apply the principles and ethics you learn to conservation and cultural heritage. With a focus on Indigenous and First Nations issues, you will explore a variety of global, social, political and cultural contexts which will allow you to gain a rewarding and sustainable career.
